San Diegans Invited to Celebrate Water Awareness Month with City of San Diego Water Conservation Program Events

The City of San Diego Water Conservation Program is celebrating Water Awareness Month throughout May and is inviting San Diegans to a series of fun and educational events. Each of the events and activities planned are designed to show San Diegans how to make water conservation a way of life.

The City Council recently declared a Level 2 Drought Alert Condition affecting the entire City. The new declaration means that San Diego will implement mandatory water use restrictions beginning June 1.

"The Water Awareness Month events we're hosting will help us let San Diegans understand that there's simply no time to waste and no water to waste," said Luis Generoso, the City's Water Resources Manager.

"During May, we're inviting everyone to celebrate the importance of water and to learn what they can do to protect this precious resource," said Chris Robbins, Supervising Management Analyst for the City's Water Conservation Program. "Thanks to the support from local community groups and businesses, San Diegans can enjoy several local events, get involved with the community, and learn more about how they can use water wisely."

In observation of Water Awareness Month, San Diegans and their family and friends are invited to enjoy the following free special events:
